Redeployment meals

Field meal cards must be turned in before boarding the bus headed back to Yongsan.

For soldiers departing Camp Walker, MREs will be available in the Admin tent area on the day of departure. Soldiers on separate rations will pay for their MRE.

NTV redeployment

Sections redeploying soldiers by Nontactical Vehicles must provide a manifest to the U.S. Army Troop Command-Korea Administration tent, where a commander's safety packet can be picked up.

A Safety Risk Assessment Form must be submitted as well, and all vehicles must be topped off with fuel prior to departure. A closure report must also be submitted no later than 24 hours after arrival at Yongsan.

Meals Ready to Eat can be picked up at the Supply Tent.

For more information contact USATC-K Operations at 764-3058.

Area IV hosts UFL exercise 20th SG stands 'ready to serve'

By Pfc. Kim, Nam-Kwan

In the Ulchi Focus Lens exercise, soldiers, airmen, sailors, marines, National Guards, Reserves, and civilians come together to take part in the exercise. While some soldiers are doing their best in UFL, others do their best to support the exercise as the host -- the soldiers of 20th Support Group Area IV.

During the exercise, they provide Life Support Area facilities for everyone who arrives in Area IV. There are four LSAs in Area IV, consisting of housing facilities, Morale Welfare and Recreation tents, latrine, shower and laundry facilities.

"We provide everything that soldiers want to have, from housing to telephone," said, one LSA mayor, Sgt. 1st class. Randy Cheniault, HHC 20th SG.

"Satisfying 100 percent of the people is the most difficult part, but I believe we have satisfied probably 99.9 % of the people," he said.

The LSAs are not the only type of support they provide. They also run the Joint Reception Center in Camp Henry. In the JRC, augmentees from the United States and across the peninsula get information about new circumstances (Korea) and in-process to get their billets.

"We are ready to serve anyone who comes here -- soldier, airman, sailor, marine, and civilian. We give them the basic information they need
